With a somewhat unconventional layout, this Elsternwick gem went from a dated 70s vibe to a functional modern space. The Melbourne home of beloved and late Heather and husband Kelvin was transformed by the Wood Wizards Kitchens team who took it from dated to sleek with the inclusion of NEFF's prized Slide&Hide® oven, gas cooktop and rangehood. The quality products integrated perfectly into the functional space, ensuring there was ample room for storage, preparing and cooking.

In Brisbane, this quaint weatherboard home was taken to new heights after house-flipping duo Reno Gals lifted the original dwelling to build a second storey below. The stunning, full-house renovation transformed their 1950s-built Queenslander into a modern haven. In their galley kitchen, co-renovators Holly Docherty and Angie Lonergan opted for a light and bright contemporary look, with sleek white cupboards, gold accents and double doors leading to the outside. They also included top-quality products, including NEFF's Choice-recommended built-in oven and built-in oven with added steam function for versatile cooking, which fit seamlessly with their modern look.

Ms Docherty said there was "something special about seeing old homes that have been let go, lovingly restored to their former beauty".

On Sydney's Upper North Shore, Kitchens by Emanuel Sydney head designer and project manager Sheree Bounassif and her team re-modelled this L-shaped kitchen into a functional and timeless area, complete with a walk-in pantry. Featuring handle-less cabinetry, stone benchtops and lots of space, the kitchen is as sleek as it is practical. And with the inclusion of NEFF's built-in oven in graphite grey, built-in oven with steam function and fully-integrated dishwasher, the space looks and feels fit for an enthusiastic cook.

Ms Bounassif said they created a “modern and sleek” look with “layered textured interest”.

“It was a very satisfying style to create,” she said.
