Minestrone soup

Every family has their minestrone recipe, but our flavour-packed take on the Italian classic may just take the cake. Better yet, a chunky vegetable soup is a great way to dose up on winter flu-fighting nutrition. Crispy golden pancetta and a pinch of chilli add depth of flavour, while borlotti beans and a small pasta such as orecchiette lend heartiness. Serve with a basket of crusty oven-warmed sourdough and extra olive oil for drizzling.

Pumpkin soup

This thick and nutritious winter soup recipe maxes out on flavour. Our secret? Roasting the pumpkin with onion and garlic on CircoRoast® for thirty minutes before cooking on the stovetop. A drizzle of basil oil to finish complements the sweet and nutty flavour of the pumpkin, elevating this midweek meal into bona fide dinner party territory. It freezes well too, so make a double recipe to keep the delicious dream alive.

Hot tomato soup

A piping hot bowl of comforting tomato soup ticks all the boxes when it comes to nourishing your family this winter. A whisper of tomato paste adds intensity to the kilo of fresh tomatoes, while the classic pairing of onion, carrot and celery combined with bay leaves and a pinch of sugar rounds out the flavour profile.
